Psychotherapy has gained increasing acceptance and wide recognition in the field of mental health. This year the MPA committee is collaborating with the esteemed members of the World Psychiatric Association (WPA) Psychotherapy Section, bringing experts in psychotherapies to the conference.

Along with the concurrent sessions on pharmacological treatments and other biological interventions, this year delegates would be able to exchange ideas and hear psychotherapy experts speak.

Who Should Attend?

All individuals in healthcare settings and in community organizations serving persons with mental disorders: Psychiatrists, psychologists, primary care specialists, medical and health officers, counselors, nursing personnel, social workers, volunteers in hotline services, and mental health support personnel, and undergraduate, graduate and postgraduate students.
